Organisations give views on mental health support

Organisations across Bath and North East Somerset (BaNES), Swindon and Wiltshire have shared their views on how mental health support could be provided closer to people's homes.

We worked with Healthwatch BaNES and Healthwatch Swindon to hear the views of 22 organisations on three main themes:

- What have you heard from the people you support?
- How can this be improved and what do we want to keep?
- How are we going to achieve this?

This feedback ties in with earlier workshops listening to what local people thought good community mental health support should look like and will be used to help develop new services.

Experiences of patients at Great Western Hospital
July 2021

A joint Healthwatch project looking at the experiences of patients using the Great Western Hospital (GWH) in Swindon has revealed that while most people were happy with the care they'd received, there were areas where improvements could be made.

We worked with Healthwatch Swindon and Healthwatch West Berkshire to listen to the experiences of 196 people who had used the Emergency Department and four inpatient wards at GWH in July 2021.

A mix of online surveys, Covid-safe face to face visits, virtual interviews and phone calls were used to gather feedback. Read our report to find out more about what we heard.

Access to dental care still a concern in Wiltshire

Access to NHS dental treatment remains a worry for Wiltshire people - it's one of the services people contacted us about most in 2021 alongside GPs, mental health and Covid.

We recently carried out a review of 48 dental practices in the county to ask if they were taking on new patients.

Thanks to all who shared views on GP services

A huge thank you to the 650 people who gave their feedback on getting a doctors' appointment during the last six months of 2021.

Your experiences, along with those of GP practice staff, will now be shared with NHS organisations to help shape the way services are developed. Watch this space!
